

Oncoheroes Biosciences is the first start-up exclusively devoted to research and develop new products and solutions for childhood cancer. With HQ in Boston and labs in Barcelona, offers a highly dynamic and international environment to those professionals wishing new challenges.

Job Description

Role: Head of Clinical Development / Head of Clinical Operations
Reporting to the Chief Medical Officer, the candidate shall perform

Tasks:

- Serve as cross functional leader for all clinic related activities.
- Accountable for the design and authorship of study protocols and interpretation of clinical study data.
- Responsible for setting up clinical operations and allocate internal/external resources.
- Serve as company representative for the selection of appropriate vendors for various clinical related services.
- Oversee and directly contribute to the clinical development plan, with appropriate internal support.
- Lead clinical sections of regulatory documents. Support Head of Regulatory affairs for meeting with FDA and EMA.
- Familiarity with Pharmacovigilance/Data Management activities.
- Provide support to company management for due diligence-related activities.

Qualifications:

- MD or Life-sciences PhD.
- Minimum of 7 years industry experience (Pharma/Biotech/CRO).
- Demonstrated track record in leading and managing cross-functional teams.
- Marked proficiency in clinical/medical writing and verbal communication.
- International Experience and open to travel internationally as required (max 25% of time).
- Fluent English.

Offer:

- Full time or Part Time position in a dynamic start-up.
- International exposure.
- Competitive compensation package.
- Ability to work from home.

Candidates should send a covert letter and resume, both in English, at contact@oncoheroes.com.

Less qualified candidates may also be considered for different positions