

IRB Barcelona International PhD Programme - 2017 call open for applications

We are pleased to inform you that the “IRB Barcelona International PhD Programme” call is open.

For the 2017-2018 academic year, IRB Barcelona is offering 11 PhD fellowships for young scientists from the national and international community who wish to undertake a doctoral degree in biomedicine. We encourage applications from highly motivated graduates with outstanding qualifications in biology, biochemistry, physics, pharmacology, computational biology or related fields. Successful candidates will join research groups headed by top-level scientists and will carry out their research in cutting-edge fields of biomedicine in a stimulating environment.

The deadline for applications is 15 February 2017, 23:59h CET Time.
