

JOB OFFER: Technician

The B Cell Biology Group (Cerutti/Magri lab) at IMIM-Hospital del Mar in Barcelona (SPAIN) is seeking a proactive and highly organized individual to oversee laboratory operations and participate in research endeavors. You can expect to establish collaborative interactions with the two principal investigators as well as laboratory members. Independence and a high degree of flexibility are encouraged.

THE LABORATORY

The B cell biology lab studies the regulation of B cell activation and antibody production in intestine lung and systemic lymphoid tissues. We are particularly interested in dissecting signals from the innate immune system that help mucosal B cells to become activated. For further information about the work of the group visit:
