

Seeking for Pre-Doctoral fellow Candidates

Catalan Institute of Oncology-IDIBELL
MICROENVIRONMENT AND RESISTANCE GROUP

The Catalan Institute of Oncology (ICO, Barcelona) is a public center working exclusively in the field of cancer. Its approach to the disease is comprehensive, combining, all in one organization, prevention, care, specialized training and research. ICO has become a center of reference in Catalonia, both in healthcare quality and in research. ICO carries out research in all areas of cancer, from understanding why it develops and how to prevent it, to finding early diagnosis strategies or new, more efficient treatments, as well as research related to caring for end-of-life patients. The Catalan Institute of Oncology is affiliated to the IDIBELL Research Institute.

The Microenvironment and Resistance Group, headed by Dr. David Garcia Molleví, is seeking for an excellent and highly motivated PhD student that is willing to apply for several predoctoral fellowships.

The successful candidate will have the opportunity to initiate and conduct high-quality research. The group focuses research on resistance to therapies mediated by tumour microenvironment in liver metastases from colorectal cancer. The group offers stimulating research atmosphere and an environment in which collaboration and exchange of ideas and techniques is actively encouraged with a strong commitment to translational research, which overall provides a lively and stimulating environment for young talents.
